

Church of Scotland Coronavirus Information

Radio and Television/Social Media

The Right Reverend Colin Sinclair is offering a live daily reflection on Facebook at 10 am (here). It is expected that there will be a reflective service broadcast on BBC1 Scotland at 12.15pm, on Sunday 29th March 2020; arrangements to facilitate this are ongoing.

Please note that churches should not open for private prayer. See Professor Jason Leitch's video here on the Church's website. While guidance in England allows for this, the Church of Scotland's position is that buildings should remain closed. This is consistent with other major churches in the United Kingdom.

There are only three exceptions; for hosting essential voluntary or public service, such as food banks, or homeless services, for looking after the children of key workers through an approved local authority request and for the live streaming or recording of worship, which should take place with a maximum of two people present who maintain a physical distance and follow appropriate hygiene advice and best practice.